Historic Preservation Commission

The Historic Preservation Commission advises the City Council in all matters concerning historic preservation. The mission of the Commission is to provide protection for significant properties and archeological sites that represent important aspects of Tempe's heritage; to enhance the character of the community by taking such properties and sites into account during development; and to assist owners in the preservation and restoration of their properties.

The Commission consists of seven (7) members and two (2) alternate members, who are Tempe residents, with a demonstrated interest in or knowledge of historic preservation. Terms are for three years. The membership of the Commission includes three (3) at-large members and four (4) professionals, drawn from the following disciplines, with no more than two (2) such professionals from the same discipline: architecture, architectural history, archeology, historic preservation law, history, landscape architecture, planning, building construction, or other related field. The Commission must hold a minimum of four (4) public meetings/hearings per year. Additional meetings may be called at the discretion of the Commission chair or four (4) or more members of the Commission. (City Code, Chapter 14A, Section 14A-3; Zoning and Development Code, Part 1, Chapter 3, Section 1-304)
